Humor can (and frequently does) occur in virtually any social situation. It can occur between spouses who have lived together for fifty years or between strangers waiting at a bus stop. It can take place in the conversation of a group of close friends casually sitting around a table in a coffee shop, or in the interactions of a group of business people participating in formal negotiations. It can be used by public speakers, such as politicians or religious leaders, addressing large audiences either in person or via the media. The social context of humor is one of play.
