Wildwood Wisdom: Master Your Talent for Wilderness Survival Filip Brooks

This book is about taking fundamental elements of survival in the wilderness to the next level – to learn advanced techniques for survival that will increase the reader's odds in the wilderness. Regardless of physical stature, of socioeconomic status, this book will provide everyone with vital information for survival in the wilderness.

Here is what you will learn after reading this book:

- Shelter. Without shelter, you are exposed to the elements and when exposed to the elements for too long, you're going to die. We will discuss where to build your shelter, identification of materials needed to build your shelter and how to build that shelter.
- Water. It's been said that in the wilderness, there are two types of water – the type you need to have to survive and the kind that will kill you. We will learn techniques to gather potable water and obvious techniques to avoid water that will kill you.
- Food. The goal is to be rescued, to return to civilization as we understand it and without food, there is no energy. We will take a look at techniques to gather food, some of the foods that are fit to eat and some that are not.
- Fire. Fire is used to cook food, to boil water for safe consumption and to keep the body warm in cold temperatures. Knowing how and where to build a fire can be the deciding factor as to whether you live or die. You will learn the three key elements needed to have fire, you'll learn how and where to build a fire to increase probability of rescue as well.
